CHAPTER 1

Your partner space

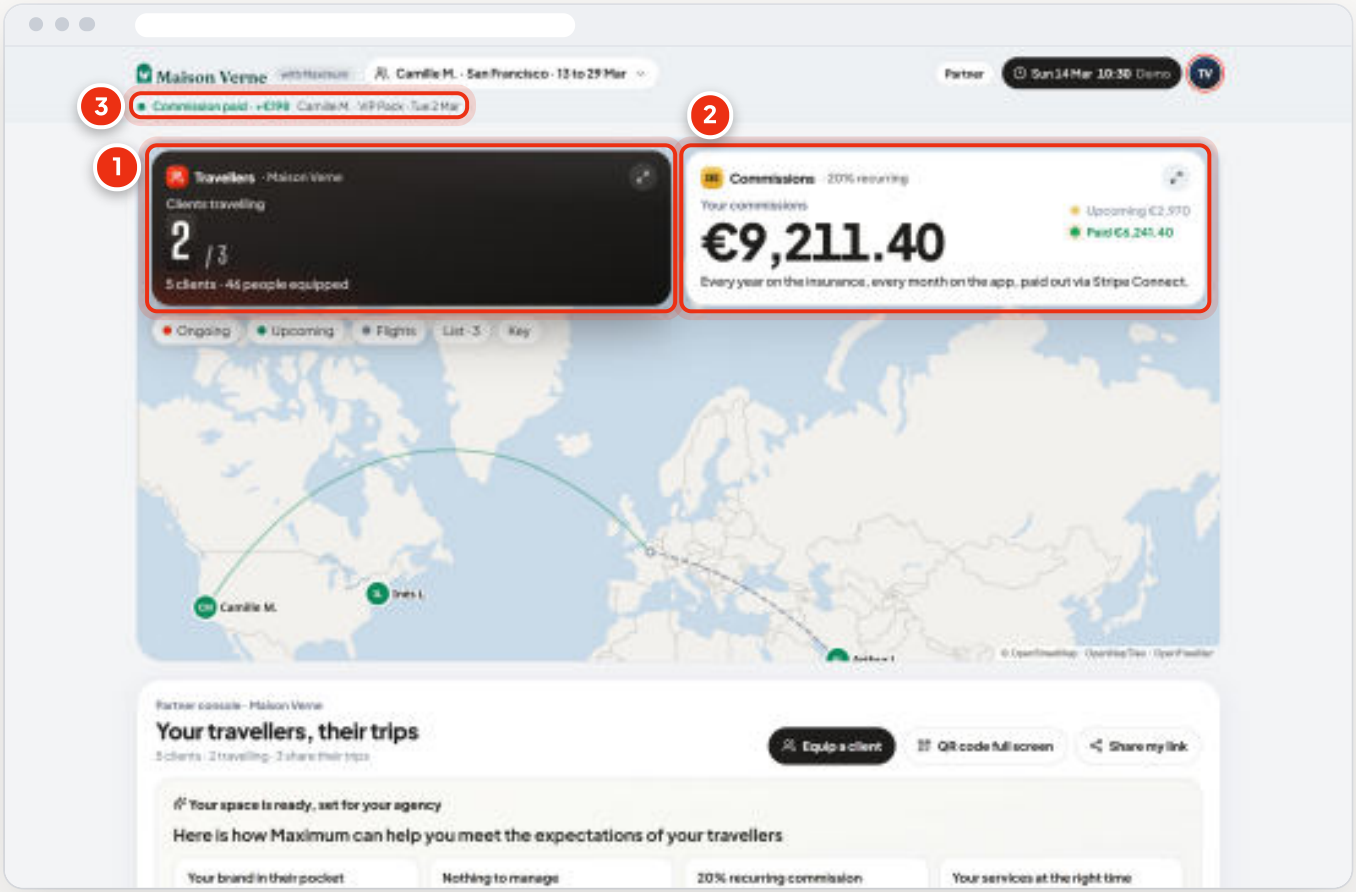
A company console in your own words: your clients on the road, your commissions, and a space already set up by the site's sign-up.

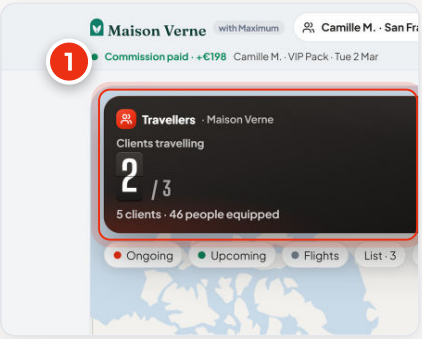
01	Your clients on the road, at a glance	4
02	A space ready, set up for your agency	5

01 / 02

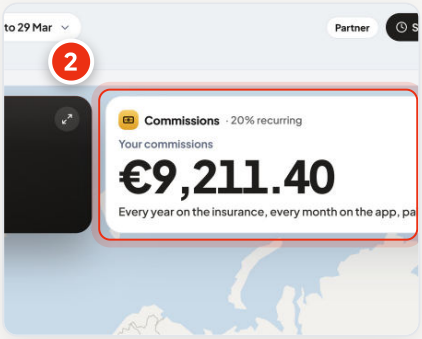
Your clients on the road, at a glance

Thomas opens Maison Verne's space: his clients on the road on the map, two out of three right now, and his commissions, paid or upcoming.

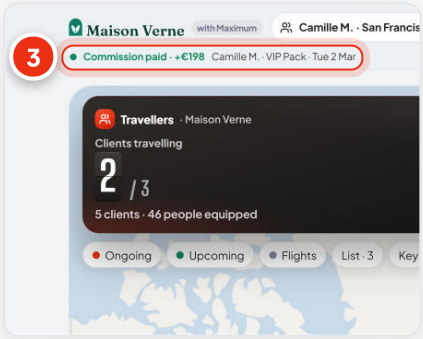




1 Your clients on the road, right now



2 Your commissions, paid and upcoming



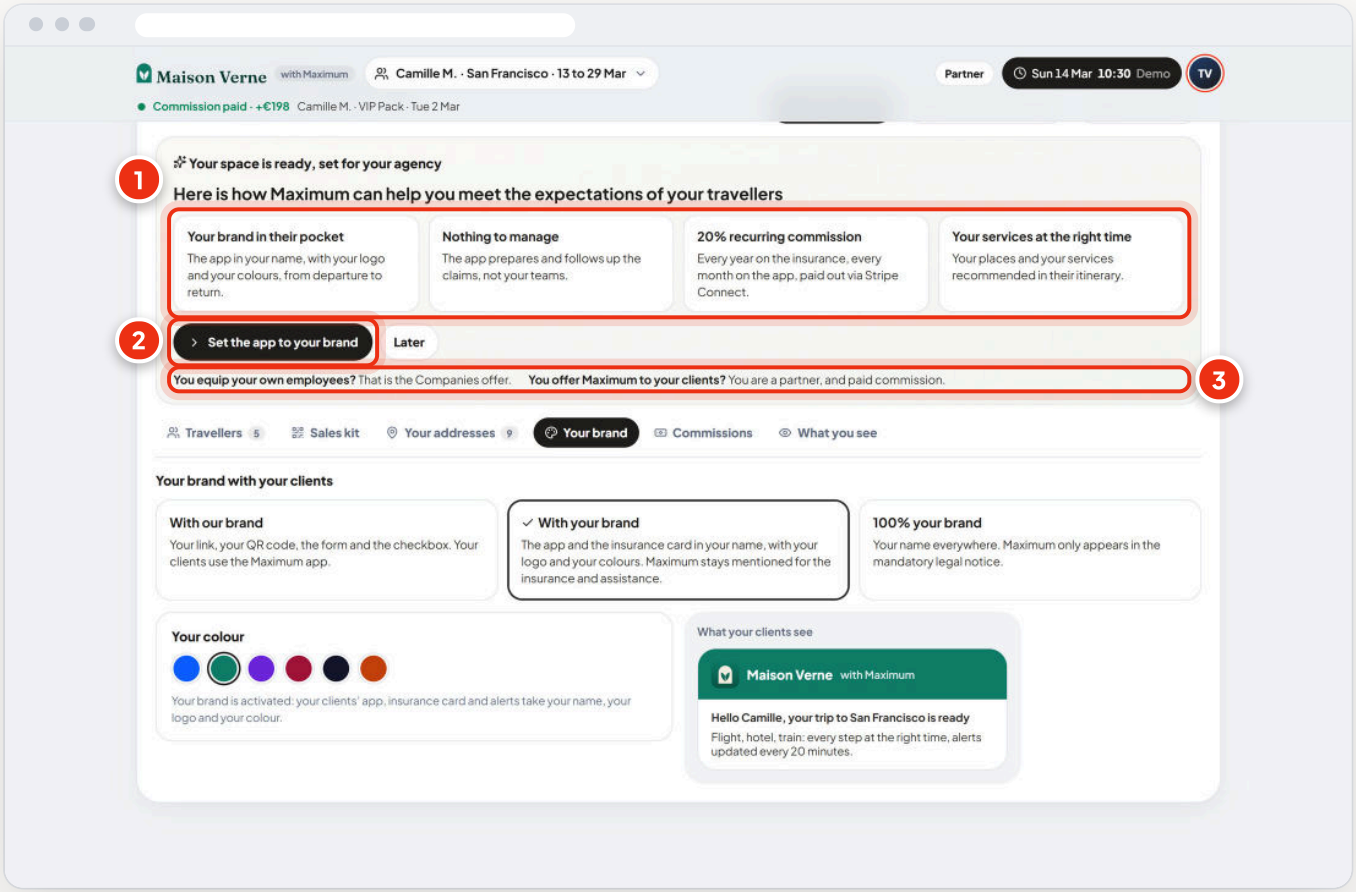
3 The latest commission paid, announced

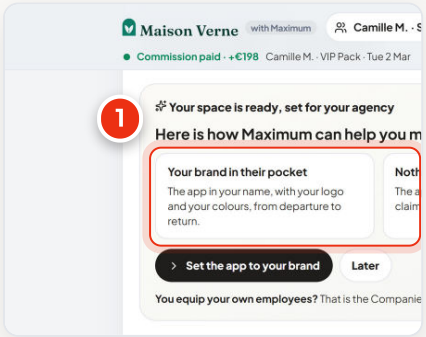
Demonstration screens: Maison Verne (Thomas Verne) and its clients on 14 March 2027, Julien Martin. Fictitious data.

02 / 02

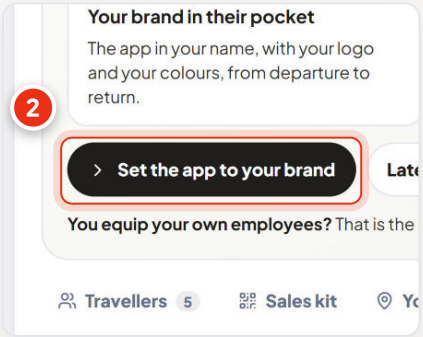
A space ready, set up for your agency

On first opening, the space is already set up by the site's sign-up: what Maximum brings to his travellers, the first move to make, and the line with the Companies offer.

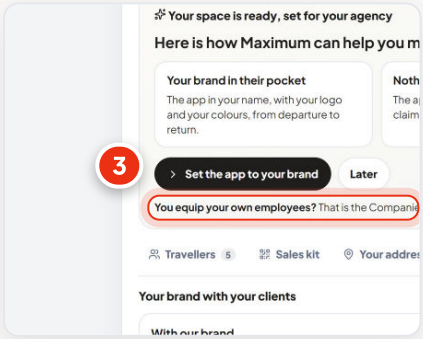




1 What Maximum brings to your travellers



2 The first move, already chosen



3 Partner or company: the line

02

CHAPTER 2

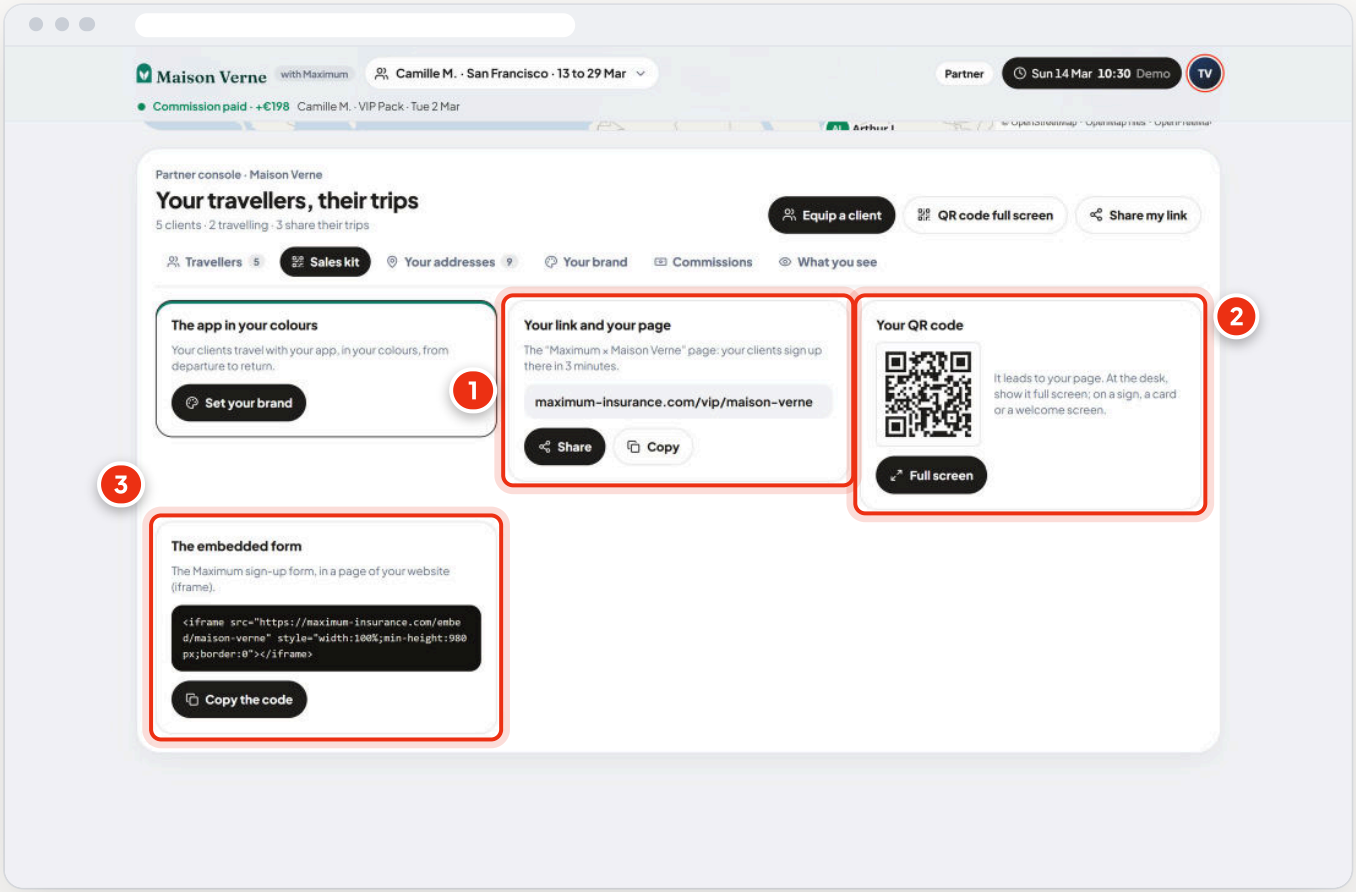
Equipping your clients

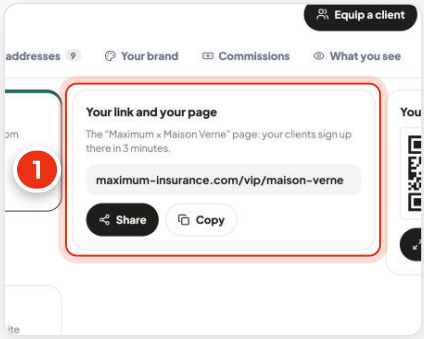
The sales kit: your link, your page, your form, and the QR code full screen at the desk.

01	Your link, your QR code, your form	7
02	The QR code full screen, at the desk	8

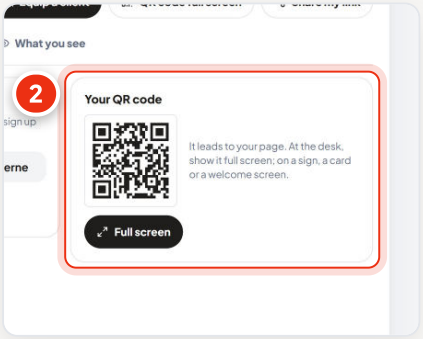
01 / 02
Your link, your QR code, your form

The sales kit has everything to equip a client: the Maximum × Maison Verne page to share, its QR code, the form to place on the agency's website.

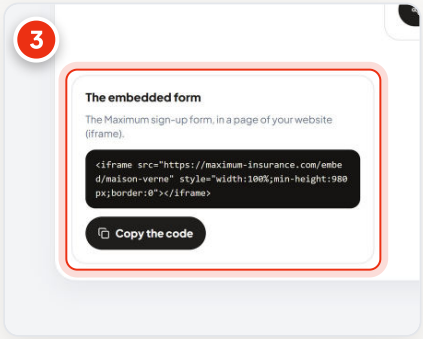




1 Your link and your page, to share



2 Your QR code, for the desk

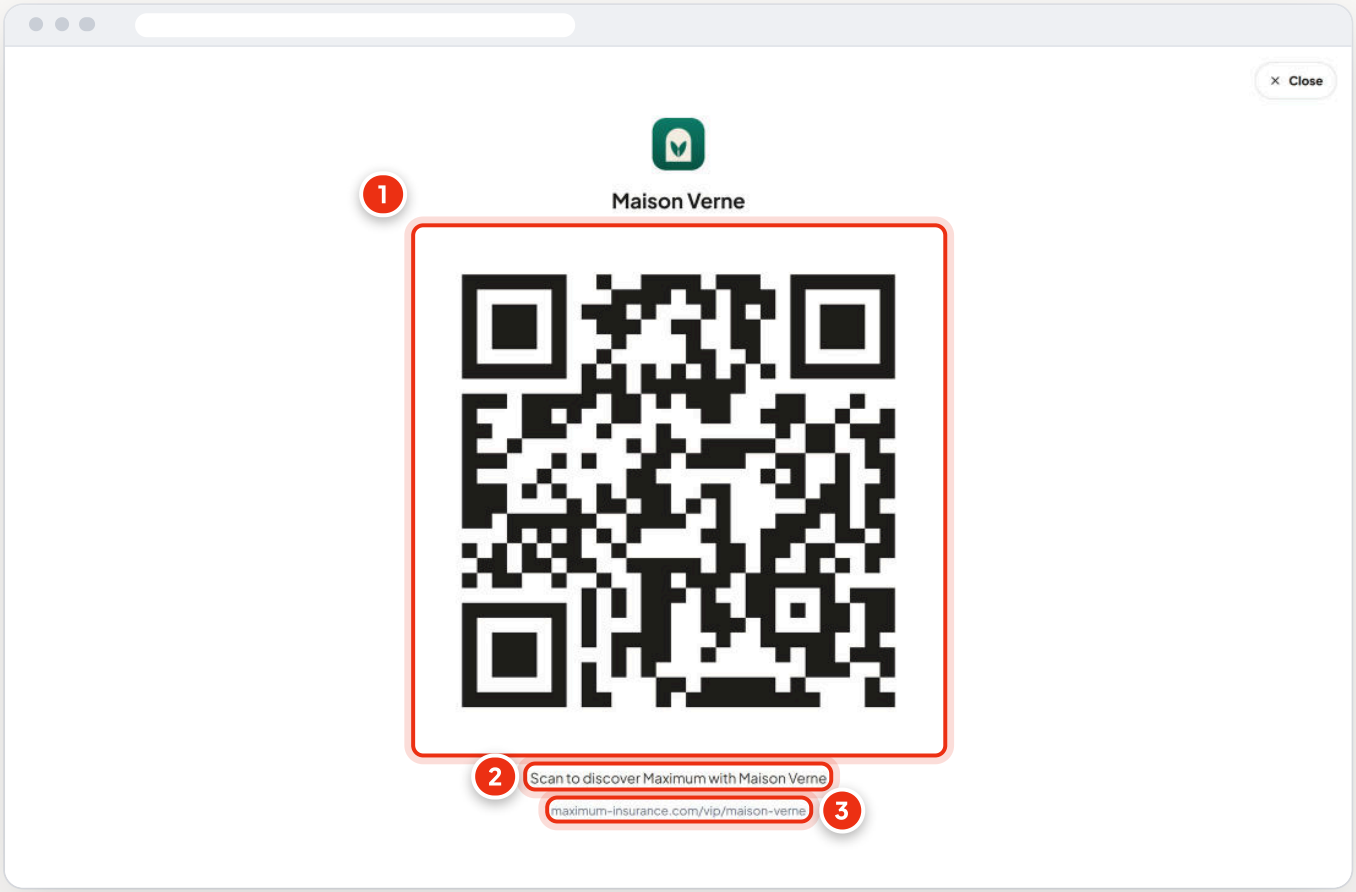


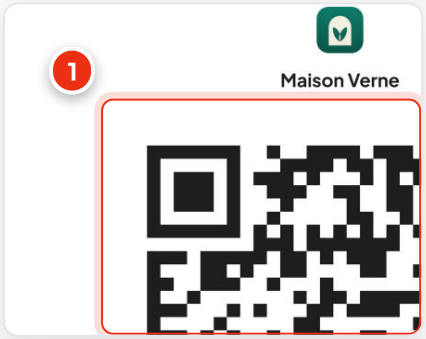
3 The form, on your website

Demonstration screens: Maison Verne (Thomas Verne) and its clients on 14 March 2027, Julien Martin. Fictitious data.

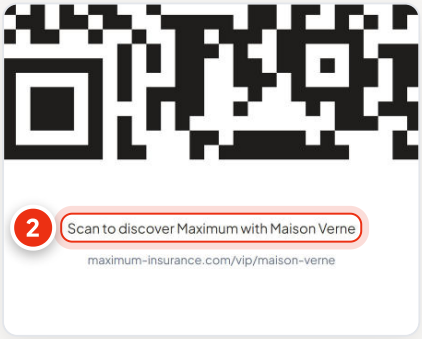
02 / 02
The QR code full screen, at the desk

At the desk, Thomas shows the QR code full screen: the client scans it and lands on Maison Verne's page, where they sign up in a few minutes.

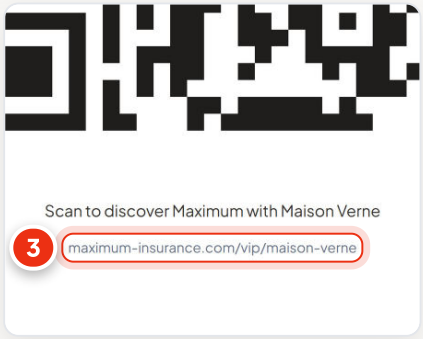




1 Your page's QR code



2 Maximum with Maison Verne, in plain words



3 The short address, to copy

03

CHAPTER 3

Your clients, with their consent

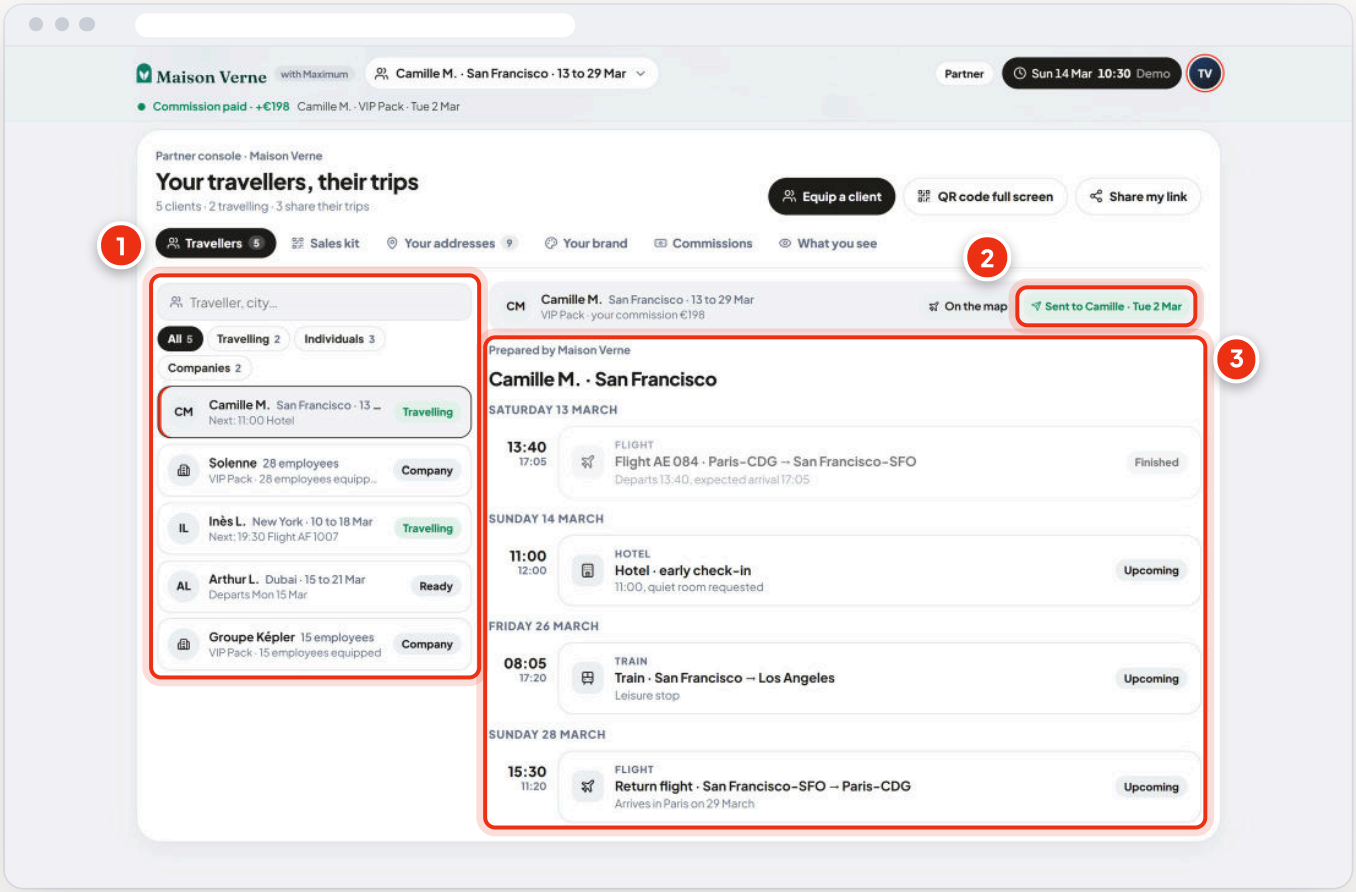
The travellers who came through your link; their trip only if they agree to share it, never their health or their claims.

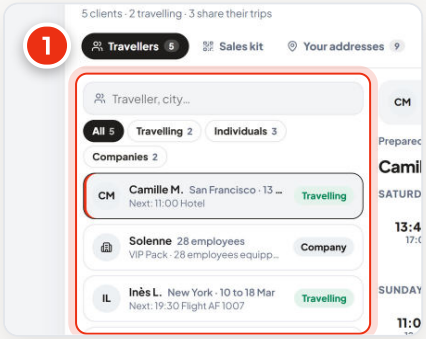
01	Each client and their trip, with their consent	10
02	What you see, and never more	11

01 / 02

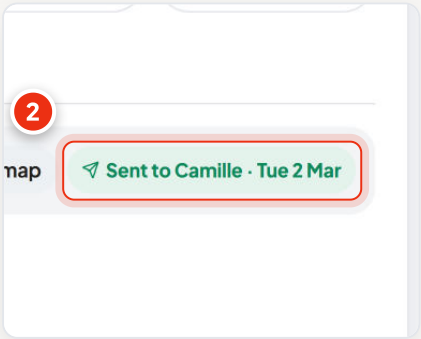
Each client and their trip, with their consent

The travellers who came through his link; Camille M. agreed to share her trip: Thomas sees her itinerary in San Francisco, prepared and sent by Maison Verne.

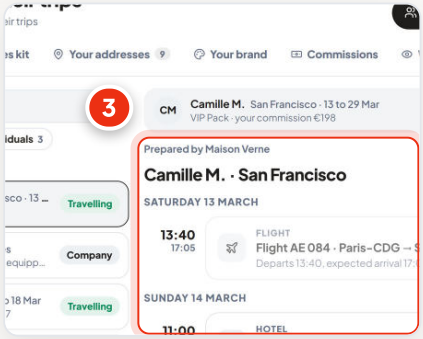




1 Your travellers, who came through your link



2 The trip prepared, sent to Camille

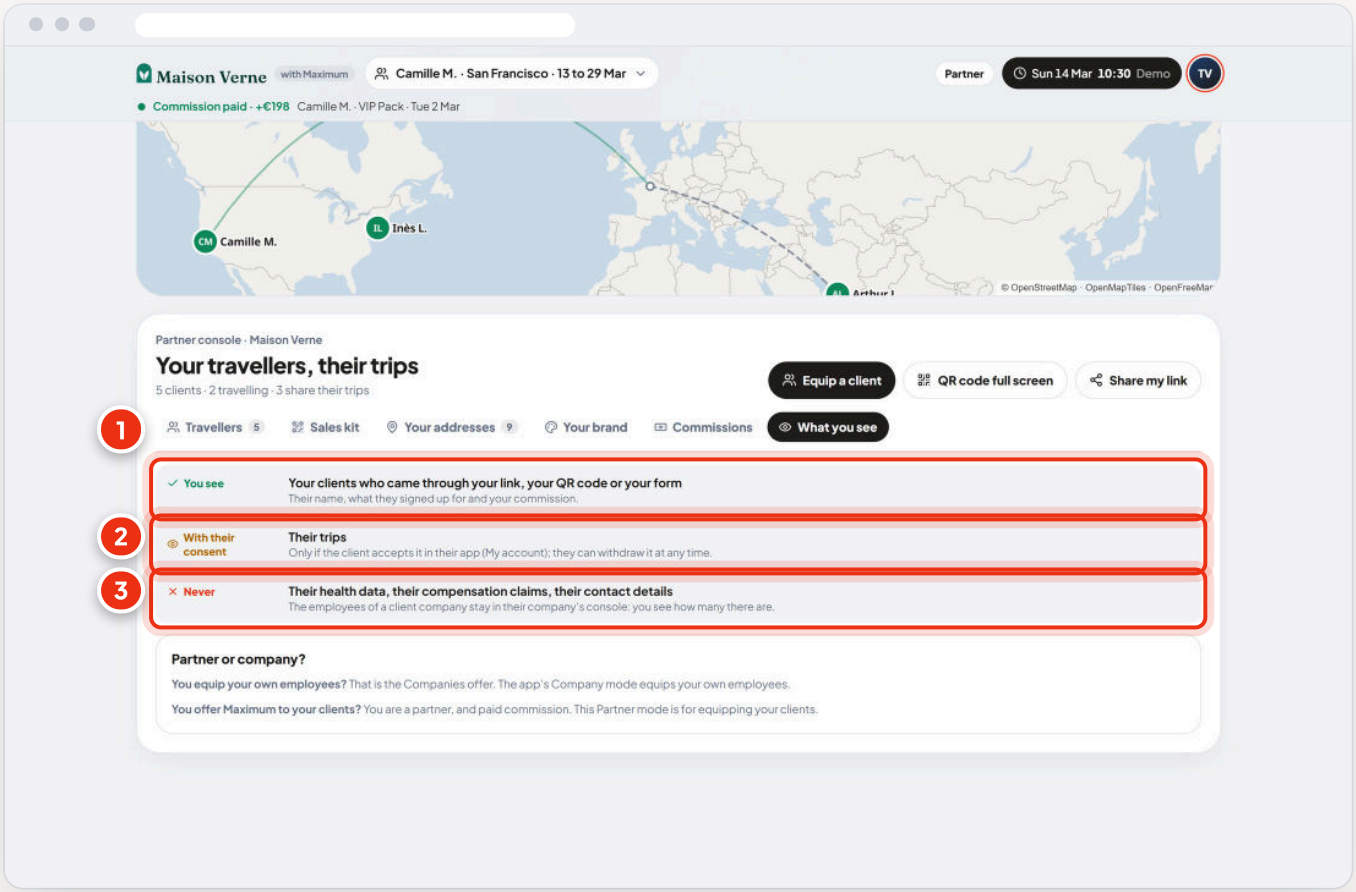


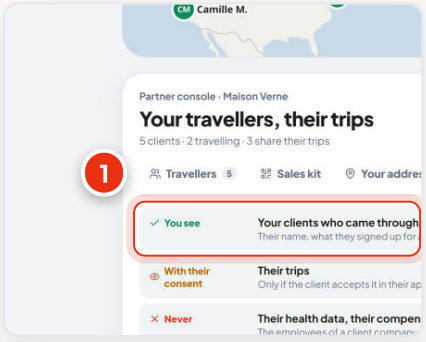
3 Her itinerary, step by step

Demonstration screens: Maison Verne (Thomas Verne) and its clients on 14 March 2027, Julien Martin. Fictitious data.

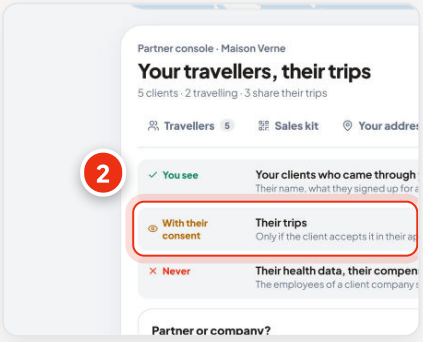
02 / 02
What you see, and never more

The clients who came through his link and their plan; their trips only with their consent; never their health, their compensation claims or their contact details.

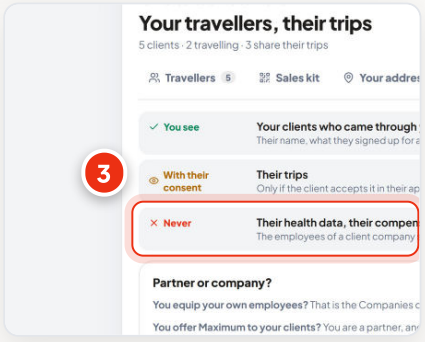




1 Your clients and their plan



2 Their trips, with their consent



3 Never their health or their claims

Demonstration screens: Maison Verne (Thomas Verne) and its clients on 14 March 2027, Julien Martin. Fictitious data.

04

CHAPTER 4

Your addresses, at the right moment

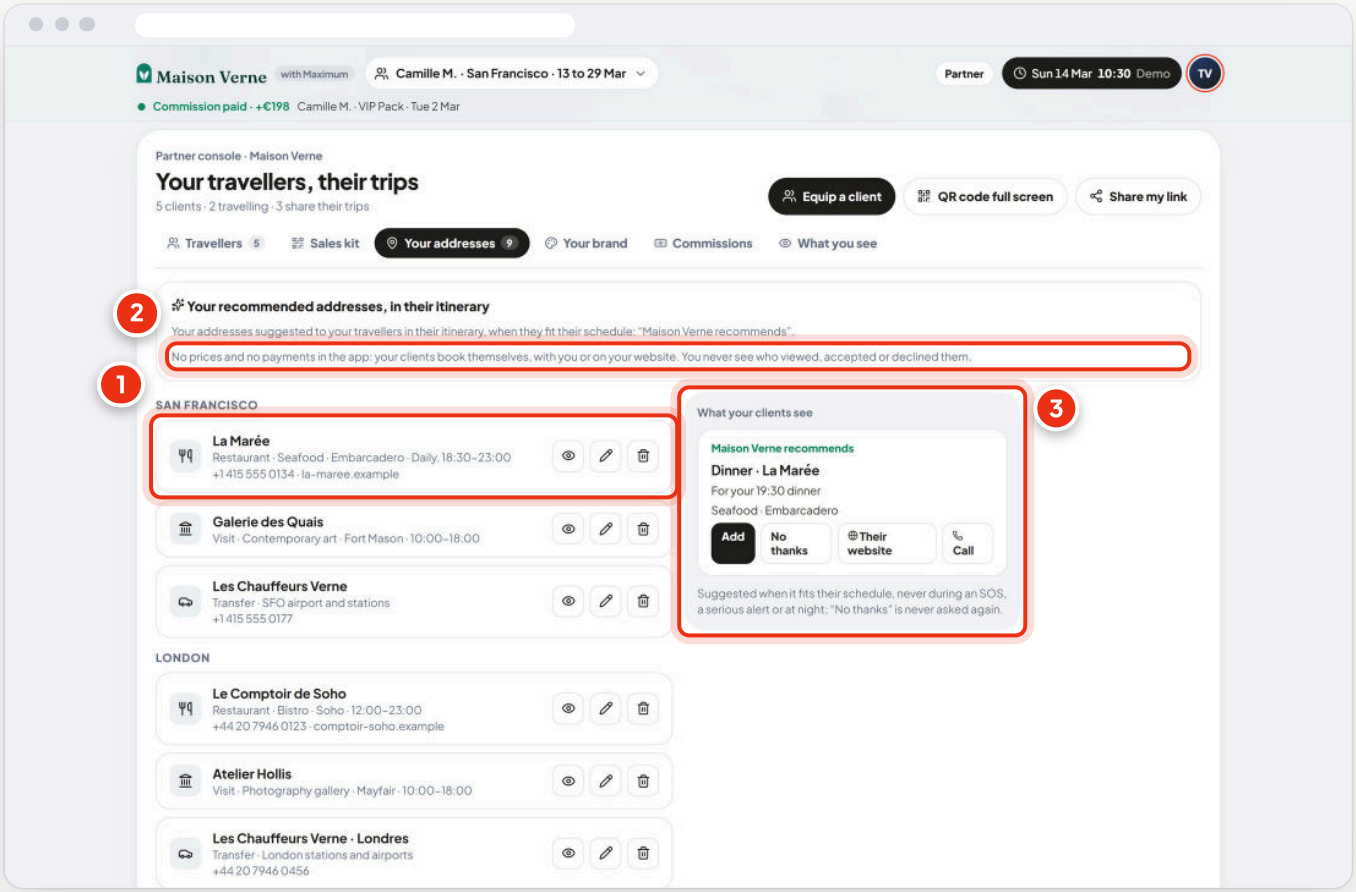
Your addresses city by city, with no prices; your clients receive them when they fit their schedule, with the reason.

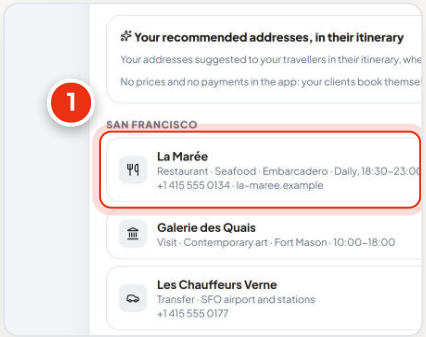
01	Your recommended addresses, at the right moment	13
02	Your addresses, in your clients' itinerary	14
03	At the right moment, in the bar	15

01 / 03

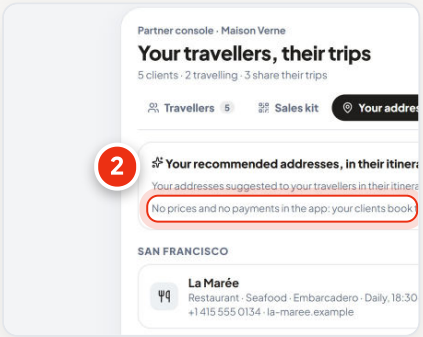
Your recommended addresses, at the right moment

Maison Verne lists its addresses city by city, with opening hours and contact, without any price; its clients receive them when they fit their schedule.

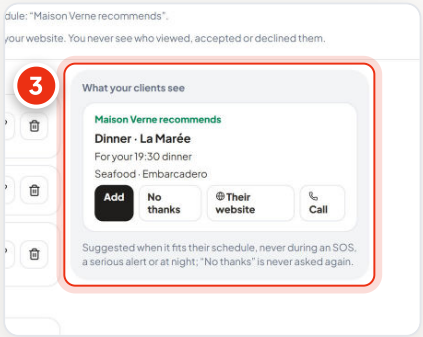




1 Your addresses, city by city

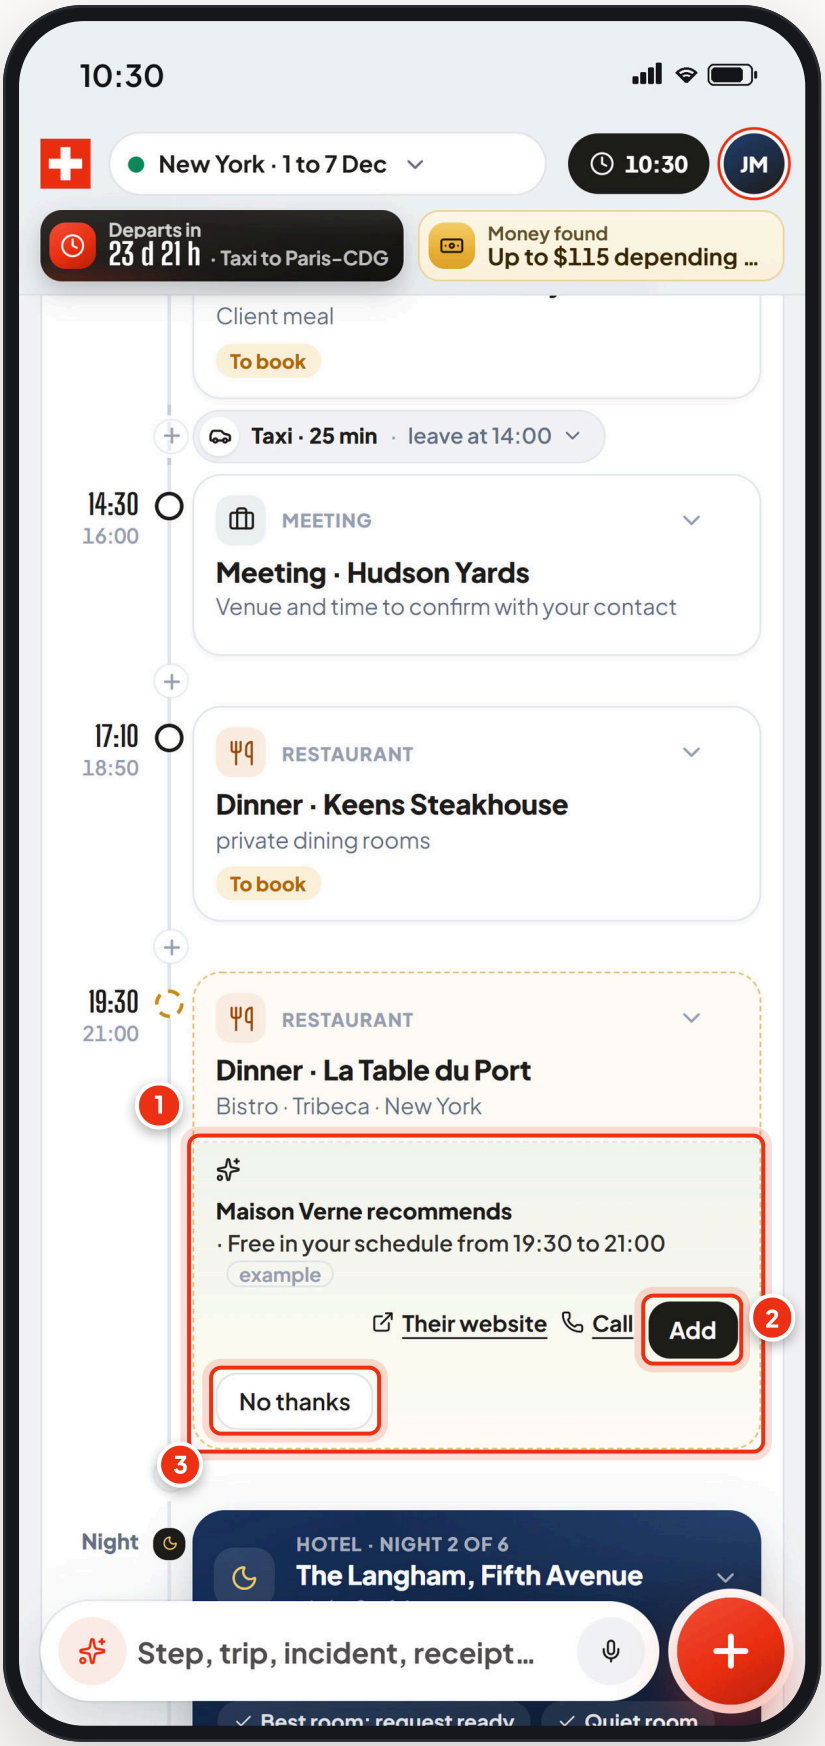


2 No price or payment in the app



3 What your clients see

Demonstration screens: Maison Verne (Thomas Verne) and its clients on 14 March 2027, Julien Martin. Fictitious data.



02 / 03

Your addresses, in your clients' itinerary

Julien, a Maison Verne client, is preparing New York: on the evening of 2 December, his agency recommends a table in the free slot from 19:30 to 21:00; he adds it or says No thanks.

1. Maison Verne recommends, and why
2. Add it to the trip, in one tap
3. No thanks: never asked again

> Demo: Julien Martin is a Maison Verne client for the example; the New York addresses are fictitious.

03 / 03

At the right moment, in the bar

At 18:55, between two steps, the bar suggests Maison Verne's table for tonight, with its reason; never at night, nor during an SOS or a serious alert.

1. Maison Verne recommends, for tonight
2. Add it to my trip
3. No thanks, just as big as Add

PARTNER OR COMPANY

What is set on the site

The app's partner space shows your clients, your commissions, your kit and your brand; nothing is bought there. Sign-up, payouts and the set-up under your brand are handled on the site's Partners page.

01 Partner or company

Equipping your own employees? That is the Companies offer. Offering Maximum to your clients? You are a partner, and paid commission.

02 A client company

A company that came through your link keeps its trips in its own console: you see the plan it took and your commission, never its employees' trips.

03 Sign-up

On the site's Partners page: company, business type, country of establishment, work email. The activation link arrives by email; the space opens already set up for your business.

04 Payouts

They are opened once, on the site, with Stripe Connect: IBAN entered once. Your 20% recurring commission is paid there, every year on insurance, every month on App only.

05 With your brand

Setting up the app with your logo and colours: €4,900 excluding VAT, once, requested and paid on the site; an adviser gets back to you. With our brand: €0 set-up, no commitment.

06 Nothing is bought here

Neither the set-up under your brand nor the payout settings: the partner space shows them, the site handles them. Your addresses carry no price and no payment.

The rate and amounts are those of the site's Partners page on 13 November 2026, in euros, like the commissions in your partner space.

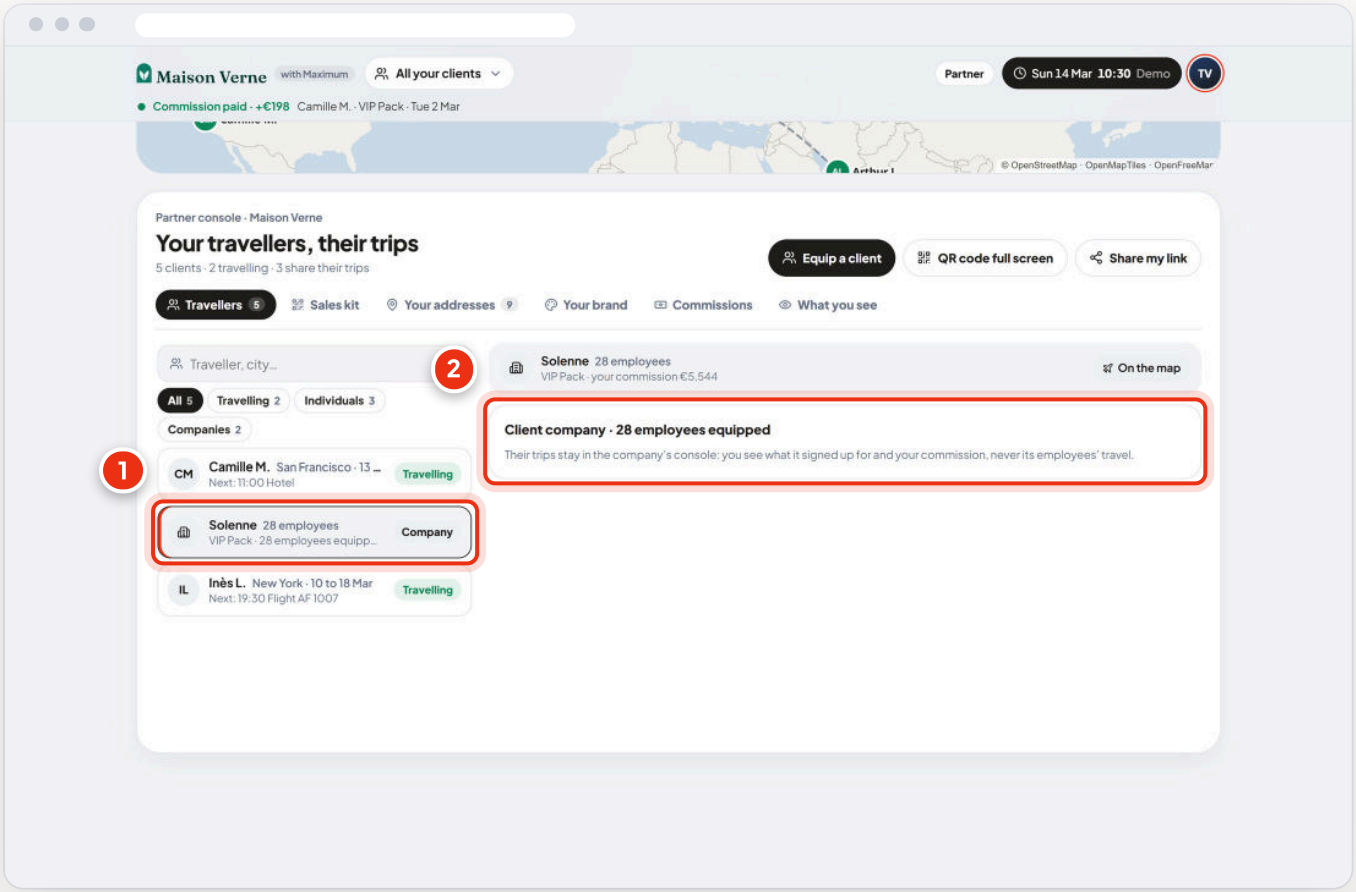
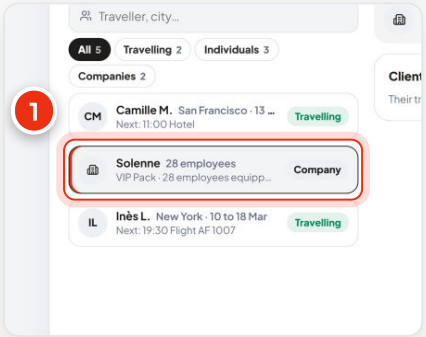
01 / 01

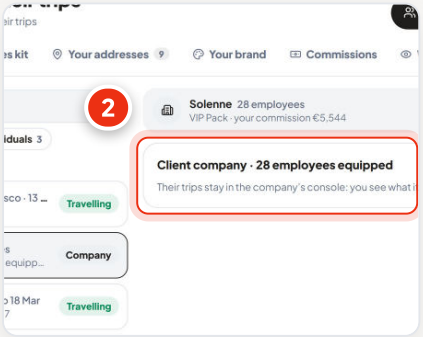
A client company keeps its trips

Solenne equipped 28 employees through Maison Verne's link: Thomas sees the plan it took and his commission, never its employees' trips.





1 Solenne, a client company



2 Its trips stay in its own console
